Fun Facts about Flowers

- Centuries ago, tulips in Holland cost more than gold.
- Roses are actually related to apples.
- Almost 60% of fresh cut flowers grown in the U.S. come from California.
- The juice from bluebell flowers was historically used to make glue.
- In ancient times, people burned aster leaves to ward off evil spirits.

Easy to Plant Flowers

- Sunflowers

- Marigolds

- Violet

- Siberian Iris

There are many more flowers to plant in your gardens this year. Try and find rare flowers to make your garden exotic.

Jokes

If April showers bring May flowers, what do May flowers bring? Pilgrims

What May flowers grow on faces? Tulips

Why don't monkeys fall from the sky in May? That happens during Ape-ril showers.

What do April showers bring?
May Flowers

Cinco De Mayo

May fifth may for some people be known as revenge of the fifth after May the fourth, but for others it is Cinco de Mayo. In 1862, the Battle of Puebla was when the French Empire was defeated by Mexico. This battle marked Mexico's victory in the Franco-Mexican War. There is a common misconception that this marked Mexico's independence day, but no that is wrong.

8th Grade Wills

The following slides will present the 8th Grade Wills. The 8th Graders are not passing away, but moving on in their lives. They will be going on to High School to continue their schooling. The Circuit Rider Staff is encouraging each and every one of you to read the following wills.

Mrs. Workman's 8th Grade 1st hour Wills

I, Morgan Albertson, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to finish all of my history homework to all of the 8th graders, but they also need to finish the other classes work. I will all of my funny jokes to Mr. Lanning. I will all of my good relationships with all of the teachers to the incoming 8th graders. I haven't really said anything about 6th and 7th graders, but have a good year and try not to get into trouble.

I, Braylin Antunez, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath half of my ability to annoy my teachers and the ability to get detention every week to Meghan. I am going to give her this because I've never seen her get in trouble or annoy the teachers, and I think it would be funny to see her in detention or on an ISS. She also makes fun of me when I get in trouble or get into arguments with people.

I, Makenya Brown, hereby bequeath my hair to my favorite Mr Lanning so he doesn't have to look Korean on the map with his bald spots. I'll give my bad grades to Kylee Guffey in 6th grade, and if she doesn't want them, Cole Wichman, soon to be an 8th grader, can take them. I would like to give my goofiness to another 8th grade teacher, Mrs Ramlow. I will give Avianna in 6th grade my attitude and may she connect with Mrs Jay in 7th grade and ask for help. I give my volleyball skills over to Heaven Lee as long as my basketball skills.

I, Zakk Coffey, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my curveball in dodgeball to Chase March because he is always complaining about it. I give my A+ in social studies to everyone coming into 8th grade. I give good luck to the incoming 8th graders for every class.

I, Noah Crank, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my PS3 and PS3 games to Ella Crank with the intention of getting the platinum achievement on at least one game. I would give my asthma to some unlucky person, and I would give my ability to stay up until 1:30 am without caffeine to someone who needs it. My cat will go to Doug Luken; someone who needs a cat. I would give my hiking gear to make him literally walk 5 miles in my shoes. It won't be the same person I gave asthma. I will give Coach Aeilts my ability to drink a half a gallon of milk. Before I leave, I want people to remember "memento mori", which is latin for "remember that you will die."

I, Matthew Dallavalle, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my right kidney, left arm, eyeballs, liver and my absolutely spectacular, totally not failing grades to Chase March. My hair will go to Mr. Bonaparte to help with his beautiful hair. My legs will go to Mr. Jones so he may reach 3'5. I will give my procrastination to all the 7th graders who thought 7th grade was difficult. I will my lack of sleep to any 7th graders who think they don't get any sleep. I will my humor to JB since he definitely needs it. Good luck to all incoming 8th graders; you'll need it. ;)

I, Gracelyn Dinger, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to not talk back when the teacher yells at me to all of the 6th and 7th graders. I will my clumsiness to all of the 7th graders ( have fun with that). I will the ability to laugh at myself to Tyler Meyers. Have a good next year to all of the kids in LJHS. It's been real.

I, Sarah Fisher, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my patience to the soon to be 8th graders or soon to be 7th graders. They will need it. I leave my hope and good spirit to the seventh graders. I will the force to be with you.

I, L Francis, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my bad maths grade to my niece Miley Meredith. I leave my friend Bug Marten my luck with Mr. Jones's class, as you will most likely be sent down to the office from his class at least 8 times throughout the year. I leave my friend Sebastian Alexander with my eye drawing skills and my mostly good grades. I leave my friend Aliya Carter with my strength, because once you get into 8th grade, you will get into a lot of fights. I give all my thankfulness and kindness to Mr. Boutcher, Mrs. Splain, Mr. Lanning, and Miss Meade, because you all helped me throughout my 7th and 8th grade years, some without even realizing it. My hair and humour goes to my all time favourite janitor, Mr. Mario. I give my patience to the incoming 6th grade student, Hunter Meredith. Last, I leave all my love and care to Mr. Boutcher and Mrs. Splain, for they were the ones who had saved me when I was going through my darkest.

I, Drayden Galvin, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my dodgeball skills to Chase March because he needs them. I give some of my height to Mr. Jones. I would also like to give my leg to Chase March since he broke his. I'll share my ability to annoy the teachers with nobody because I need that ability. I give my ability to be the best kid in class to Paycen Shaefer. I would also like to give Meghan Devore, Braylin's NBA Youngboy hoodie.

I, Bobby Gephart, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my strange sense of humor to any of the incoming 8th graders that could use it. Since my elevator pass is only good at LJHS and useless at high school, I will leave it to the highest bidder. I will accept cash, credit, or Venmo. Lastly, I will my infectious smile to Mr. Jones, so that he will always have a good day.

I, Camden Geriets, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to not get any detentions to the incoming 6th graders. I also give my ability to have a bunch of missing work to the incoming 8th graders. I give "Nothing" at all to my brother (He doesn't deserve it.).

I, Nicholas Horath, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my shortness to Zachary Sprague. I also will leave my fingers for all future eighth graders. Good luck future eighth graders, which, hopefully, does not include me.

I, William Hutchison (aka Billy), will the next class to be smart like me. I leave Chase March with my great dodging skills in dodgeball (even though sometimes I suck). Also, I will my sister, Kennedy, my great math skills since I know she does not like math. I also hope for my teachers to have all well behaved students. Lastly, I want to thank Mr. Jones for giving me all that hard work, and I hope the next 8th graders have great success with math! Therefore, good luck next year to all the incoming 8th graders!

I, Danny Jaegle, give my ability to focus in class to the seventh graders. I also give them my ability to turn in my homework on time. I also give my laziness to them.

I, Aubrey Lichtenewalter, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to lose pencils every time when I put it down, to every future 8th grader. As for my height for the people in 5th hour P.E, I will give it to the future 7th graders. I will give the ability of giving good art skills to future 8th graders in math. I will also give the ability to lose pens in class, mainly in math. I will wish every future 8th grader good luck on climbing up the stairs.

I, Lexie Meredith, will my lack of paying attention to Miley Meredith and Reese Duffer. I will my kindness towards these two teachers, Ms. Meade and Mr. Lanning, to Kaylee McKinney and Serina Whiteman. I will my horrible grades and lack of knowledge in math to Miley Meredith too. I will my trouble with Mr. Jones to Cole Wichmann. I will my ability to be on time to all classes and be prepared for class to all the upcoming 8th graders. I will my amazing history and Constitution knowledge to Cole Wichmann, Amya Pusey, and Meghan Devore. I will my lack of patience to Aliya Carter. I want to give a big thank you to all the teachers for putting up with us the past 3 years. Good luck to the upcoming eighth graders and try to have fun.

I, Matthew Morris, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath nothing to my brother Malachi Morris, an incoming 6th grader. I'm not leaving anything because I don't believe I have anything to leave him. I will be leaving my ability to fall asleep in class to all the incoming 8th graders.

I, Bryce Phillips, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my infinite amount of video games and pokemon cards to the 7th graders, my sleepiness to the homecoming 8th graders and my need to have music on to the sixth graders. I would also like to pass on my bad humor to the 6th graders. I would like to give my tallness to the shortest 7th grader as well as my book collection to all reading teachers.

I, Austin Rempe, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my legs to Chase March; he might never hit that growth spurt. I leave my food stash to the Eilertson twins because they always steal from it. I leave my hair to Mr. Lanning so he doesn't go all the way bald. Lastly, I leave my height to Mr. Jones so he's taller than his students.

I, Zach Rich, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my kindness for the 6th and 7th graders who are struggling with it. I will give my creativity to Jossalyn who is in 6th grade, my art skills to Miss. Meade; she needs it. Mrs. Workman, I will give my smile. She goes through a lot to teach us. The main thing I will leave for my fellow principal is my luscious hair, so he won't get cold.

I, Tyson Roos, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my height and kindness to Mr. Jones so he can see Mr. Lanning's bald spot. Also, I give my hair to Mr V so he can finally go on a date with a girl.

I, Addi Treakle, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my creativity and ability to create art to Mrs. Means for a healthy way of coping with any stress she may have in her life and to inspire any upcoming 6th, 7th, or 8th graders to do the same. I will my creative style and acceptance to anybody in need. I will my problem solving skills and what empathy I have to anybody with negativity in their life. May they use their new found empathy to better understand themselves or someone around them who's struggling. Finally, I will my way of guidance in self to anybody struggling with finding who they are, and to know when they do find who they are, that I hope they will be able to accept their new found identity.

Mrs. Workman's 8th Grade 2nd Hour Grade Wills

I, Lakin Adams, hereby bequeath to my friend, Daniel Beck, my Dodgeball skills because he needs them. Hopefully, he will learn how to dodge a ball, not into it. I want to make a trade with Mr. Workman. He gives me some of his height, and I'll give him some of my hair. That sounds reasonable, right? I will give my smarts to Dominick Cummings. Dom isn't the smartest. (Sorry not Sorry) I wish to give Bosco Jones my ability to throw anything straight and not to the ground. I wish good luck to the upcoming 8th graders and 7th graders. Hopefully, they won't have as bad a schedule as I did. I had to go up and down the stairs 6 times a day. If you have Mrs. Workman as your homeroom teacher, then you're lucky because she is the GOAT. The second-best teacher for homeroom is Mrs. Ramlow. Those are the best classes to be in. Good luck to the upcoming 8th graders; it will be a fun year.

I, Hunter Doolin, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing jokes to Ms. Meade, and my amazing verbal speech to Mr. Bainter. I leave my amazing style to the G.O.A.T Mr. Lanning. Good luck to all the 8th graders next year.

I, Caden Duncan, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my creativity to all the incoming 8th graders. I also give my few math skills to the upcoming six and seventh graders. I also bequeath my luck to all of the six, seventh, and eighth, graders.

I, Ashlyn Durkee, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing style and class to Lexie Chambers, even though she's so classy and amazing, but a little more doesn't hurt. I will my lockers to Paycen Shaffer where all my things were kept; enjoy my lockers that never opened when I needed them to. I will Mr.V my strong legs for running I will my hair to Mario, so he can look even more fabulous, but please share with Mr. Lanning. I will my patients to all the 8th grade teachers because these kids stress me out too. I leave my happiness and ability to dance to my little cousin, Ava Cook. I leave my awesomeness in P.E. to my other little cousin Shawn jr. Cook; have fun, and I was a beast in dodgeball. Lastly, I will my kind aura to all upcoming 8th graders; enjoy your year!

I, Jasmine Groover, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my hilariousness to Lexie Chambers because Lord knows she needs it (joking, I love you Lexie). I will my sass and attitude to any incoming 8th grader that needs it. I will give my confidence and opinionated mind to Meghan Devore because I know sometimes she won't speak her mind. I've decided to give my passion and admiration for volleyball to Paycen Schaeffer, Lexie Chambers, Meghan Devore, Alena, and Maya, but I will also leave my starting position and full rotation playing to anyone who's never had that opportunity.

I, Preston Hunt, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my humor to all incoming 8th and 7th graders to keep everybody here in a good mood. I give my height to Mr. Jones and my hairline to Mr. Lanning. I would give my good history grades to Kaniela Carvalho. I also want to give a good luck to all incoming 7th graders, especially Mrs. Boehme's 6th grade homeroom class that includes: Kaitlynn Anderson, Amber Bucciarelli, Kade Chaney, Omarion Edwards, Arianna Falcon, Brooklyn Florey, Rhazyia Haley, Cole Hall, Kennedy Hutchison, Charlotte Judd, Ericka McClellan, Madison Mcevers, Logan Mcfadden, Marisa McFarland, Camdyn Nicholas, Destiny Rohlfs, Raelee Shaub, Nicholas Taylor, and Traevon Watkins. I also apologize if I misspelled anyone's name.

I, Avery Kirk, hereby bequeath my "somewhat good grades" to all of the incoming 8th graders. I will my hair to Mr. Lanning because I have a lot, and he could use some of it. I will my seat in Language Arts to Lexi Chambers, and I hope you don't have to sit behind someone like Hunter in there. I will give my respect to the teachers, to Serenity who is going into 7th grade. Good luck to all the incoming 8th graders!!

I, Elliott Lichtenwalter, hereby bequeath my skills to the new six, seventh, and eighth grade students. I wish the best to new eighth graders, because they have to take the constitution and pass it to go to high school. I hereby bequeath my lack of sleep to new students and the teachers and adults in this school. I leave my math skills to new eighth grade students that have a hard time learning the subject. I wish the best to the eighth graders that are similar to my class, having to walk up and down 4 flights of stairs between classes.

I, Parker Maxey, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to sleep during 4 of the 6 school periods and still have good grades for all of the new eighth graders. I will my ability to take excellent notes for all of the future eighth graders who enjoy pen on paperwork over the Chromebooks. I will my math notebooks to Mr. Jones. May he enjoy using my notes as examples. I leave my hate for the 400-meter dash to Brooke Meister . Lastly, I give all of the future eighth graders good luck with their schoolwork.

I, Avery McIntosh, will leave my mini hairbrush, inside jokes, and appreciation to one of my favorite teachers, Mr. Varnado. To Mrs. Rodgers, I will leave her with the nickname Mrs. Roggy. Mr. Luken will be left with a picture of him and the grinch and him being one of my favorite teachers. I will leave Mrs. Sparrow with kindness, because she has always been really nice. I will leave Mrs. Boehme my reading skills. I will leave Mrs. Dawson with her having the best hugs. I will leave Mrs. Ramlow all the times I've been dress-coded. Last, but not least, I will leave Mrs. Shutt with my appreciation.

I, Alexander Orme , being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my locker to someone who wants it; it smells like something died in there, and I don't know why. I leave my health to someone who needs it. I give Mr. Lanning my knowledge of the random things that I think of in study hall.

I, Triston Hernandez, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing hair to Mr. Lanning. I will also leave my skill to make friends easily to all the 6th and 7th graders going into the next year. I will also leave my patience to Ms. Meade to handle kids . I will leave my good grades to Kerry Edwards. I leave my skill to sleep in class to Braxton Eilertson.

I, Zach Poole, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my determination in the classroom to all the future 8th grade students. Then I will my St. Louis Blues jersey to Mr. Lanning, just in case he wants to switch. Finally, I will my football skills to all the kids on the football team.

I, Shiori Saffer, hereby bequeath my writing skills to all the 6th, 7th, and 8th graders coming into the building. I leave my horribly horrible dodgeball skills to all of my 6th grade friends who will be 7th graders next year. I leave my horrible grades to the 6th graders coming in, I leave my amazing choir skills to all the students who are doing choir for the years to come. I leave my stuffed animal obsession to all the 8th graders coming into the grade after I leave. I leave my horrible locker opening skills to Sophia Wilkerson and to my brother, Hunter Hendrick Myers. I wish luck upon all the new and old students progressing up; it's a lot of stairs. I leave my drawing skills to the teachers, and I leave all my quietness to all the future Hunter 2.0's who come in. I leave my horrible math skills to Kyla Johnson. I leave Rhonda, my fashion style. I leave my gentle nature to Addison Gray. I hope all my friends and siblings join us soon in high school.

I, Brent Siegel, will my amazing math skills to incoming 8th graders in Mr. Jones's homeroom. I will leave my ability to not have much work to do at home and my great grades to all incoming 8th graders. I hope for future 8th graders to get good grades and a great year. I will the common sense to Ms. Meade and any that agree with her that spider man would destroy Captain America in fight. Lastly, I will my height to any 8th graders that need it..

I, Maliah Stancle, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my people skills to upcoming 8th grader Lexie Chambers even though Lexi's already very good at that. I also decided to give my humor to my friend, Paycen Schaefer, and she better use it because once I leave, it's up to her to entertain people. I give my patience to Mr. Jones since next year is his last year, and I hope the upcoming 8th graders are good to him. I leave my writing skills to Bailey Tungate so she can help her brother since he is always asking me how to spell things. I would say I'd leave my kindness to Mrs. Workman, but she's already very kind. I leave my good luck to my favorite 7th grade teacher, Mrs. Harmsen, for always being so kind and helpful. I give Mr. Lanning some of my patience as well, but only during the Constitution (Make sure you listen to him.) I give Mr. Luken my amazing style (Joking.). To Rhonda Dawson, I give my patience (again); she deals with a lot in the office. I give my hair to Mr. Mario and Mr. Lanning, but you have to share. Lastly, I leave my desk in Mr. Jones's class to Luci Stolzenburg.

I, Brody Tungate, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my athleticism to my sister Bailey because Bailey needs some because she can't jump as high. I want to leave my funniness here at LJHS. I want to leave here now as someone. I want to leave some of my basketball skills here and give some to Nick Taylor.

I, Gray Valentine, will leave my huge notebook that has flower and eye drawings in every page to my close 6th grade friend Alina Henson. I shall leave my absolute messy lockers to my dearest friend Kyla Johnson (Sorry, girl it is your problem now.). I want to leave my best grades and my confidence (and a TON of hair dye bottles) to my 6th grade daughter Sophia Wilkerson. I leave my confidence to be who I am and not give a dang about what other people think to my soon to be 6th grade sister. I leave my social skills to my amazing niece Addison Gray (God knows she needs it). I leave all my desks to Hailee Rempe so she has a little part of me because I know she loves me dearly. I will leave some of my hair to Mr. Lanning so he can stop making jokes about his forehead (Your forehead is not a peninsula like Korea Mr. Lanning.). To Mr. Jones I shall leave some of my height in hopes he uses it to be at least the same height as Mr. Lanning. I leave my comb to Mario because he lost his comb a while ago. I will leave my patience to Ms. Meade because she's gonna need it after she's done with this year. To Mrs. Workman I leave an apology note for all the times she had to correct my spelling and grammar. I leave my amazing and unique fashion to Mr. Luken. I leave my contact information to the secretary to keep me updated on all the kids I named in this will. To all of my amazing children (They know who they are.). I leave my phone number to you guys in case I have to come down there and help you kids. To all these soon to be 8th graders I leave you luck and hope that you get through this year because it is going to determine where you go in life and because some of the teachers (not naming any names) are scary, but they become nicer. I gave my amazing friend Skylee Dvorak my chromebook (Please don't drop it all the time like I did.). To my dear friend, Ella May Johnson-Neibuhr I leave my upcoming 7th grade kids to you (Please be careful with them because they are my babies.). To my upcoming 6th grade sister Ryleigh Hope Valentine, I leave you my style, social skills, and the confidence to be yourself no matter who's judging you. To all the upcoming 7th graders I have tips for you. Mr. Boutcher is a chill teacher so if you get on his bad side you must be REALLY bad. Mrs. Splain will treat you the same way you treat her, so respect her. Mrs. Harmsen was my favorite teacher in 7th grade because she is so kind, and she really cares about each student. Mrs. Jay was very helpful to me when I needed help with math, and she explained it so well. Mrs. Sparrow is a really cool teacher as well, and I love her lessons. Mrs. Boehme is a really nice teacher to all her kids. Mrs. Poelker was my personal favorite teacher because of how fun and active she makes her classes. For extracurricular activities, Choir is my all time favorite, and I've done it for 3 years and more to come! Play is also really fun to do with all the acting and amazing plays. I hope you all have a great summer and new school year! I'm going to miss the teachers and my friends dearly.

I, Noah Wingo, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing hair and non-bald head to Mr. Lanning, because he's my favorite teacher, and he also might just need it. I leave all of my anxiety to get to the next class on time to all of the students in the school, mainly because I need to get rid of it. I shall also leave all of my broken humor (that I may or may not show in class) to Ms. Meade, due to the fact that she can take a joke in class. I leave all of my good days at this school to Mr. V, because he was always in a good mood and made my days significantly better. I leave my love for history to Mr. Lanning, Mr. Boutcher, and Mrs. Jones because they are my favorite teachers here. I would have given my height to Mr. Jones, but I'm shorter than him, so that's not really possible. I'm going to give my love of food to anyone who doesn't like food - just to spite them. I'm going to give my unathleticism to anyone who can go up a set of stairs without breaking a sweat

Mrs. Workman's 8th Grade 3rd Hour Wills

I, Levi Allison, will my clumsiness and ability to hold my water bottle to Anthony White . I also will give my goalie skills and energy in P.E. to Adric Wampler. I wish my luck to Anthony White and Maxwell White. I wish that all of the Pre Algebra students, in 7th grade, get into Algebra in 8th grade. I will my dodgeball skills with the Eilertson brothers. I wish my grades to Logan Mcfadden. I will my basketball skills with Logan Burger. I will my stress from Mr. Luken to any future 8th graders and 7th graders. I will my seat in Mr. Jones's class to Anthony White. I will my perseverance with everyone that does track next year. I will my test taking skills to Anthony White and Maxwell White. I will my knowledge to all future LJHS students. I wish the best for all of the 8th grade students of 2022 to 2023.

I, Maelee Cunningham, being of unsound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing bari saxophone skills to whoever will take over my spot in the jazz band next year. I also will my really cool locker and amazing seat in science to my cousin, Daniel Hibbs. I will my saxophone skills to Anna Cone. Finally, I will my acting skills and great costumes to everyone in theater.

I, Emery Kitterman, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will my amazing flute skills to Eva Gowin as well as my band locker. I will my remaining mental stability to anyone who needs it since I won't have it for much longer anyways. I will some of my self control and patience to Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Baker, and Mrs. G they'll probably need it for the next play. I will some of my remaining sanity to Adriana Menzel because she needs it. I give the title of "Drummer God" to Aidan Smith even though it's not my title; however, it is my duty to bestow it onto a drummer. I will my math skills to all future Algebra students; unfortunately, it probably won't help much. I will the rest of my patience to Miss. Meade. I will my amazingness to Logan McFadden, even though he doesn't need it. Lastly, I wish all future 8th graders good luck you're gonna need it!

I, Kelsey Marten, hereby bequeath my love for softball to all the girls on the softball team. I wish good luck to all the softball players because they will need it. I hereby bequeath my hair to Mr. Lanning to fill in his peninsula and his island. I hereby give my athleticism to Adric Wampler. I will my luck and smarts to Jayden Papesch. I will the little bit of hair I have left for Mr. V and Mr. Bonaparte to share.

I, Reyli Sanchez, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my grades to any incoming eighth grade students that may need them. I will my love of DC to Miss Meade and Mrs. Ramlow. I will my luck of hitting Braxton Eilertson to anyone against him in dodgeball. Finally, I will my gaming skills to any incoming eighth graders who may need them.

I, Abigail Scales, being of sound, mind, and body, do hereby bequeath my intelligence to all future eighth graders. I hope you will impress your teachers and do well in school. Even though she is no longer here, I will my artistic ability to Charlotte Judd. I know that one day you will read this and be a hundred times greater than me. :) I also will my calm and kind outward appearance to all future eighth graders so you will be able to focus on school and yet do things you love, without being too stressed. Finally, I will my eighth-grade lock to my sister, Brooklyn Scales, who will be in the sixth grade next year. I hope you do well in school, just as well as your doing now. (straight A's- Amazing job! :D) I wish all of you great school years to come, with the appreciation of my teachers.

I, Jenna Shaffer, will my good grades to all future sixth, seventh, and eighth-graders. I will my patience in math to all incoming eighth-grade students. I will my height to Mrs. Jones. I will my kindness to all incoming sixth, seventh, and eighth-graders. I will my good sense of humor to Mr. Luken. I will my good listening skills to Adriana Menzel. I will my love of history to all incoming sixth, seventh, and eighth-grade students. I will some hair to Mr. V and Mr. Lanning. One last thing, thank you to my teachers and coaches for making my middle school experience extraordinary.

I, Mckinlee Stoltzenburg, do hereby bequeath my awesome seat in Mr. Jones' room to my little sister, Luci. I leave my remaining patience to the 8th grade teachers. Good luck! I will my funny jokes and sense of humor to the following: Maya Spiroff, Deanna Vincent, Bailey Tungate, and Regan Kutz. All of my running skills will be left with the track athletes of next year. Luci, Faith Doolin, and Ryann Lile will receive my math skills. I also will my PE skills to Adric Wampler and Natalie Geary. My volleyball skills go to Ava and Luci as well :). Obviously, my brilliant Circuit Rider skills go to Violet, Lexie, and Paycen. Lastly, my love for dance will be left with the poms girls next year, especially Faith, Ryann, and Amy Schumm!

I, Giovanni Sundeen, will the following 8th graders who need it, my good grades. I will leave my love of reading books and my doodling to future artists. I will Hunter Ransdell my good vertical jump. I will some of my hair to Mr. Lanning and Mario Bonaparte. I will my hair cut to Ryne Manuel who needs it. I will my dodgeball skills to Hunter Ransdell. I will my patience to future 8th graders. I will my attention span for future 7th and 8th graders in STEM. I will my gaming ability for future 8th graders.

I, Kaylee Thomas, hereby bequeath my talkative skills in Mr. Jones's class to Bailey Tungate. I will my friend making skills to Luci Stoltzenburg and Maya Spiroff. I will my catching skills in dodgeball to Deanna Vincent, Faith Doolin, and Ryann Lile. I will my math skills to Natalie Geary and Allison Anderson. I will my kindness to teachers to all the upcoming 8th, 7th, and 6th graders! I will my seat in Mr. Jones's class to Regan Kutz, so she can sit by Luci! I will my ability to talk fast on the announcements to the next person doing them. I will my confidence to Amy Schumm and Serina Whiteman. I will dance skills to the next dancers! :)))

I, Emma Vannoy, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my volleyball skills to Maya Spiroff, Luci Stoltzenburg, and Ava Cook. I will my catching dodgeball skills to Braxton Eilertson and Bosco Jones. I give my height to Mrs. Jones so she can finally be taller than her students. I leave my kindness to all of the incoming 6th grade students. I will my good grades to Liam and Lexy Whitehead. I will my seat in Mr. Jones's class to Deanna Vincent. I give my skill of riding the bench at Six Flags to Mr. Lanning. I will my good fist bumps from Mr. V to all of the kids in the school. I will my good spot in Mrs. Sparrows's class to Serina Whitemen.

I, Kyleigh Whitehead, hereby bequeath my athleticism to my siblings Liam and Lexi Whitehead. I will my love for roller coasters to Mr. Lanning. I will my math skills to Deanna Vincent, Luci Stoltzenburg, Regan Kutz, Faith Doolin, Maya Spiroff, and Emma Hutchison. I will my patience to all 6th, 7th, and 8th graders. I will my good grades to all future 8th graders. Good luck to all incoming 6th, 7th, and 8th graders.

I, Skylar Wilson, will the following. I will my skills in sports to Logan Burger. I also will my grades to anyone who gets bad grades. I will getting dabbed up by Mr. V every day to anyone who likes him. I will my skills to not get out in dodgeball to Braxton Eilertson.

Mrs. Workman's 8th Grade 4th Hour Wills

I, Julissa Antunez, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my lock to Keira Newton. I have had the hardest time opening it, so I wish she has such an equally hard time of her own. I leave Meghan Devor my will to participate in coming to school and surviving. I leave my bad grades and short attention span to Ayden Snow. I leave my love for sleep to Skylee (I love you Skylee; have fun in 8th grade :) Lastly, I leave my love for reading to Mrs. Ramlow. I hope all the future 8th graders have a good year and get along with the teachers without causing them too much trouble.

I, Chase Brown, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my most useful item, my bad grades for anyone to take care of, and don't feed it after midnight; it will turn into good grades over a period of two month. I give to some soon to be 8th grader my unlucky pencil, which the graphite always broke off the tip of the pencil, making weird pencil lines when you wrote, and the lonely table of the far east in the cafeteria for you and your friend so you can congregate for the food that burns a hole through the lining of your stomach, but it is surprising that it might taste good. I give to an incoming 8th grader the uncomfy desk in Mrs. Workman's room and the nearest desk to the door for the quick exit out the door and locker 887. It was mine but now yours. To my dear friend Brennen Ballard of the class that was below my feet, have fun my dear friend that is heading straight for 8th grade this year; I hope, my dear friend.

I, Aria Buggs, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my locker to my younger sister Tariana Buggs for when she gets into 8th grade (my locker code is very easy), and I will her my super amazing flash card making skills because she's going to need them for Mr. Lanning's history class. I'm pretty sure all upcoming 8th graders will be the last to have Mr. Jones as their math teacher, so I will them my unproblematicness (trust me, after this year's 8th grade, he deserves a peaceful next and last year of teaching).

I, Adi Eads, will my sleeping in Mrs. Workman's class to Laikynn Holton because you probably will anyway, but to give you some help, there you go. I will my "amazing math skills" to Kailynn Holton because you might need it. I will my ability to not yell at everyone that walks in front of me to Syrenity Cronin. I also will her some of my height because she will need it.

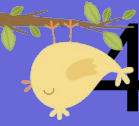

I, Leah Gaddy, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to sit still to my cousin Kaleb Stake. I will my good grades to all the 7th graders. I will my passion for math and good mathematical skills to Kaleb Stake. I will my ability to be nice to the teachers to Trevore Miller :) I thank all the teachers for noticing my hard work throughout this year, and I also thank all the Eighth grade teachers for helping me whenever I needed it. I wish all good luck for all 7th graders that only have one year left.

I, Meya Harmon, being of sound mind and body, do hereby give my amazing time management to any incoming 8th graders. I will also give Mr. Mario, my lifetime supply of Mousse hair gel. I will also bless the incoming 6th graders with my will to get them through Junior High.

I, Shun Hicks, will my quietness during class to the incoming 8th graders. I will my ability to distance myself from all the drama to the future 8th graders. I give my determination to the incoming 8th graders because the work can be hard sometimes and so can getting along with other classmates.

I, Jerzie Jones, will my leadership and cheerleading skills to Kaylee Mckinney, Serina Whiteman, and Jada Ivy. You all have worked hard, and I know you'll have fun and do great. (I know you'll miss me, but Jessica's pretty awesome.) I will my wonderful personality towards Mr. Jones to my brother, Bosco Jones (even though he won't need it). I will my gratefulness to Mrs. Steffens and Miss Rhonda (the office ladies) for keeping me out of trouble with the principals when I get kicked out of class. Very much appreciated! I will my daily therapy sessions with Mr. Bainter and Mr. Workman to miss Meade. Lastly, I will my bathroom privileges and my beautiful brown hair to Mr. Lanning. I know you all will miss me, goodbye, and... good luck.

Mrs. Workman's 8th Grade 4th Hour Wills Continued..

I, Kahmari Mesner, will my ability of having somewhat long legs to Alex Lacroix. I give Mrs. Ramlow all my awesomeness because I'm the greatest. I give my ability to draw to Mr. Lanning because we all know he needs it. Also, last, but not least, I'll give all the 6th, 7th graders, and all the soon-to-be eighth-graders all my A's I've ever gotten, even though it might not be that much.

I, Shaniya Pink, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my bad spelling to Mrs. Workman so she can correct it 50 different times. I leave my most colorful weave to Mr. Workman, Mr. Bainter, Mr. V and Mr. Bonaparte, considering the fact they might need it more than me. I leave my super good grades to Clay Brackney because he'll definitely need it; I leave my locker to Meghan Devore and a very big imaginary paycheck to my favorite teacher, Mr. Luken. Last, but not least, I leave any good spirit I have to the upcoming 6th, 7th, and 8th graders because the classes and work only gets harder.

I, Dominic Robbins, do hereby bequeath my ability to be quiet to all of the future 8th graders. I will my ability to ignore students to the upcoming 8th grade students. I will my ability to multitask, type fast, and my humor to the upcoming 8th graders. I will some height to Mr. Jones, roughly about a foot, and I also will all my hair to Mr. Lanning.

I, Maecey Singley, will my good social studies skills to Mr. Lanning. I will my social skills to all incoming 8th graders. Lastly, I will my dodge ball skills to all incoming 8th graders as well!

I, Savannah Waldrop, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my tallness to RaeLee Shaub; she needs it. Also, I will my attitude to Heaven Lee. I will give my good grades in PE and History to Kamri Dietz; she's going to need them. I will my sleeping in most of my classes to Miley Meredith, because school is going to make her exhausted. I will my talking in Mrs. Ramlow's class to Ajah Gibson; just don't get in a lot of trouble. I will my long legs to Mr. Jones. To all upcoming 8th graders, try not to sleep.

I, Noah Ward, being of sound mind and body, do hereby give my will to any one reading this. I give my ability to tell funny jokes to 6th graders, I will to the 7th graders my smarts, and to the new 8th graders, I give them my height, in case they need some extra tall legs or something. I give Mr Jones an extra foot of height; he might need it. I will my spelling to Mrs Workman just in case. Also, finally, I will my hair to Mr Lanning because he loves his hair.

I, Nash K. Wingo, being of soul mind, and body, do hereby bequeath my listed possessions to the upcoming 8th-grade students and teachers. I will Mr. Lanning a wig for his upcoming baldness to not blind students. I also will give him an air filter for his "so-called state grass since he smells it so much" so that the potency will no longer bother him. I will for Mr. Jones, some stilts so he is no longer called short. I will, for Mrs. Ramlow, a microphone since she kept talking about one at the beginning of the school year. For future 8th graders, I bequeath nice substitute teachers, extra help with work, and some birthday embarrassment from Rhonda. I also bequeath my ability to open combination locks quickly, plan for events, and multitask. This is the end of my will. I declare all said to the addressed people. Everything leftover is to be distributed evenly among staff if they desire so.

I, Ryan Wyles, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my locker to whoever gets it. Whoever gets my locker can have it and have the lock for it. I also leave behind some hair for Mr. Lanning and some height for Mr. Jones.

Mrs. Workman's 8th Grade 5th Hour Wills

I, Madison Adams, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my belongings to the following people. I will my ability to grow like crazy to all the short teachers (you guys need it more than me!). I will my obsession with RPG style games to the next batch of fellow nerds coming into the eighth grade. I will Mario some hair to share with Luigi, since Luigi has to hide a small bald spot with that hat of his (and never forget, this school is your castle. It might not be the prettiest and might not have Princess Peach in it, but you'll always have an end goal!). I will all the incoming band students good skills, especially with flutes. Don't make us older players have to hold you guys up! I will my love of reading to all the incoming students; make Mrs. Ramlow proud for me. Speaking of Mrs. Ramlow; if I ever get the chance, I'll be sure to donate some books! They might be a little mature but hopefully people will read them responsibly. I will my inability to sleep well to all the kids who belittle others. I will my almost nonexistent strength to anyone who needs it (it's not much, but it's the best you'll get out of my noodle arms.). I will amazing anatomy skills to any and all artists at this school. I will my ability to spell well to literally everyone, fellow eighth grader or not (I see too many people struggling to spell, so you guys need this for highschool!) I will Eva Gowin and her brother Ryan Gowin a great time in their education (yeah, I know Ryan's an eighth grader, but I still wanna wish him the best!). I would will my game collection, including save files, to someone, but I'm not gonna give up hundreds of hours just because I'm getting older! Anyway, on that note, happy summer break to all of you, and try not to get stung by bees.

I, Avery Aeilts, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my awesome hair to Mr. V. I give my super fast speed to Maya Spiroff. I will my kindness to teachers to Emma Hutch.. (not like she needs it). I will my patience with Mr. Jones and all his stories to all of the upcoming eighth graders. I also give my positivity to Maya Spiroff. She does need it. I give my ability to socialize to all the shy kids in this building. (I know there's a lot). I also give my height to Emma Hutch, even though it's not much.

I, Tatum Aeilts, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing and super cool basketball skills to Emma Hutchison. I would also like to give my height to Maya Spiroff. I'd also like to give my super speed to Brooke Meister. I would like to give my ability to get along with teachers to all 7th and 6th graders. Also, I leave my back side to Bailey Tungate. I shall give my perfect and amazing hair to Mr. V. I would finally like to give my drawing skills to anyone that is in Mrs. Workman's homeroom.

I, Alyssa Anderson, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my cooking skills to the lunch ladies for the MID food. I give my volleyball skills to the G.O.A.T Lexy Chambers and my youth to Alena Warren (hopefully you can grow a few inches:)). I give my gorgeous locks to Mario and for Mr. Lanning's peninsula. I give all of my thanks and appreciation to my favorite teacher Mrs. Workman with the most SWAG, and if you hear anything different it is CAP.

I, Brayden Billington, will my height to the best 7th graders around Chase March, and Cole Wichman. I will some of my hair to the best teacher in 8th grade Mr. Lanning. I will my ability to be good at history to Chase March. I will my ability to be good on a bike to Cole Wichman. I will my ability to live life to the fullest and have fun in and out of school to all the new incoming 6th graders and the rest of the kids going to a new grade next year.

I, Lexy Boyer, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my good grades in social studies to my cousin Violet Loeffler, even though she won't need it. My kind heart to Mr. Doug. I leave all my thank yous to all the staff members at LJHS for the past three years. I also will my dislike for school to all of the upcoming years. Finally, I will the name Roxie to Mr. Jones since he called me that almost all year.

I, Brenley Bruns, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my awesome humor to Bosco Jones and Cole Hall. I leave my good grades to Serina Whiteman. I leave some of my height to Luci Stoltzenburg; we all know she needs it. Diana Vincent gets my awesome healing for injuries. Braxton Eilertson can have my track skills along with Bailey Tungate. I want to give my cheer skills to Natalie Geary. I want my sister, Ashlan, to have my listening ability. I leave my seat in Mr. Jones's class to Sturgis, so you can't get in trouble, along with my math smarts. I hope all of the 6, 7, and 8th graders have a wonderful time next year.

I, Landon Carrillo, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my smarts to Faith Martinie. I give my ability to pay attention in math class to Braxton Eilertson. I give my height to Rylan Rentmeister.

I, Lillian Carrillo, will my perfect attendance to my little sister (Faith) because she's really going to need it. I will my awesome writing skills to anyone who has trouble writing. I will the funny pictures in my drive to anyone who is having a bad day. I will my ability to eat the school's lunch to everyone, and I hope it gets better. Good luck, to everyone.

I, Isaiah Conley, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my ability to persist and my ability to be social to my brother, my ability to trust the teachers, and the ability to get work done to my brother. I also will my ability to want chickens to my brother. I will my ability to make friends and my ability to be communicative to the teachers when I need help.

I, Carter Cordell, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my wittiness to 6th Grader Elliott Lynch. To all the incoming 8th graders I will to you my ability to not get any detentions. In addition, I will my good luck to Mr. Luken.

I, Carter Ferguson, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my mile to Braxton Elibterson and my insane grades to Colin Crombie. Mr. Lanning has the best hair in the world. I will leave him my hair even though he has the best hair, and I will leave a one time coupon for Liam to smack Elliot; use it immediately when you see this. I will also be leaving one hint for 4th hour math next year to ask him about his car and kids. He will tell you a lot, and he will lose track of time, and the class will be over with no homework. Also, I will leave Shrek 1,2,3, and 4 to Miss, Meade. I will ask the 7th graders to ask Miss Meade what the best Shrek is. Mr. Lanning thanks for all your help this year with soccer, and I will leave you my promise that I make it to D1 Soccer.

I, Deitrick Hamblen, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my hair to Mr. Lanning. I also leave my height to Chase March. (He needs it.) I will leave my knowledge to all the upcoming 8th graders and 7th graders.

I, Chloe McFadden, being of sound mind, kind of, and body, do hereby bequeath my positivity, to my brother, Logan McFadden; he needs it sometimes. I also bequeath my quietness (at school because anyone who knows me outside of school knows I am not quiet) to my brother because he really needs it sometimes! I bequeath my patience to any incoming 7th graders. You will definitely need it if Mr Luken does the house of cards lesson again, best of luck! Lastly, I will my ability to tell time from a wall clock to anyone who needs it, and, boy, I hope you use it. Everybody have a good next year!!!!!!!!!!

I, Ryne Metelko, will my luscious locks of hair to Mr. Lanning. I also generously will my height to Mr. Jones. And, finally, I will give my grades to the upcoming 8th graders next year.

I, Zoey Meyers, am willing to give my little ears to my brother Tyler Myers. I have a will to leave my great volleyball skills to Bella Wilham. I leave the ability to be in pre algebra to my brother Tyler Myers. I leave my excellent disc throwing skills to Paycen Schaefer. Lastly, I leave my kind and caring heart and my amazing flute playing skills to Ryann Lile.

I, Mackenzie Plummer, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my long and gorgeous hair to Mr. Lanning, although I don't think I'll be able to fix the peninsula that is his hairline. I will my passion for photography to any upcoming photo club members. I will my motivation to Mrs. Skelton to give her the strength to be as inspirational to others as she was to me. Lastly, I will good luck and confidence to the upcoming 8th graders. May you be the leaders of LJHS like those before you.

I, Ciara Senters, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my awesomeness and good grades to Maya Spiroff. My speediness in track to Natalie Geary. My patience I give to the future 8th graders, patience. I leave my awesome hair to Mr. V and Mario. I'll give Mr. Lanning my swag because he needs it. I give my thanks to Mrs. Workman and Mr. Lanning for being some of the best teachers. I give Mr. Doug some kindness because he really needs some after embarrassing me in front of his WHOLE class. I give Mrs. White my thanks for always talking to me in the hallways. Lastly, I give all the upcoming 8th graders some good luck and humor because you're gonna need it. Also, have fun and good luck eating the very mid lunch.

I, Rory Snyder, being of not sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my obsession of fire to Adriana Menzel and my fascination of the human anatomy to Logan, and my unnecessary knowledge of the human mind to Cynthia. Lastly, to Jude Snyder I give my favorite speck of dust on the cafeteria floor.

I, Sylvia Rose Ann Marie Soto, will some of my hair to Mr. Lanning, for he needs it way more than me. I will my good grades to my younger cousin Anthony White; you better get good grades, boy. I will my great seat in Mr. Jones's class to any soon to be 8th grader that needs it. I will my ability to not fall asleep in any class to upcoming 8th graders. I also will Anna Cone the confidence to play louder and be a good leader for the saxophone section.

I, Brathan Whiteman, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my amazing ability to argue with teachers to Sturgis Lancaster. I also leave my ability to play baseball to Rylan Rentmeister. Last, but not least, I give my basketball skills to Nick Taylor
